N A R R A T I V E  1	Topic	ORIGINAL NARRATIVE
	On 09-06-2011 I was dispatched and responded to 1488 SE Village Green Drive, PSL, in reference to harassing phone calls. Upon arrival I spoke with Mr. Vito Bitetto, the complainant.
	Bitetto told me he employed Liz Pitonack between June 2011 and August 2011. On August 23, 2011 Bitetto terminated Pitonack's employment for poor performance of work duties. Over this past weekend, Sept. 3rd and 4th, 2011, Pitonack called Bitetto and sent him text messages stating she was going to get him in trouble with FDLE, DPR, and that she was going to burn down his house. Bitetto spoke with her several times over the weekend and also responded to her text messages.
Bitetto stated he didn't think Pitonack would carry through with any of her threats until he was contacted today by the City of PSL Building Dept. An inspector with the building department advised Bitetto that a complainant was filed against him by Pitonack saying Bitetto billed a client for doing electrical services when Bitetto isn't licensed to do electrical work. Bitetto stated he informed the inspector of Pitonack's employment termination and that she has made threats against him. Bitetto believes the complaint with the building department isn't going to amount to anything, but is now concerned that if Pitonack carried through with that part of her threat, then she may well carry through with burning down his house.

I advised Bitetto to block Pitonack's phone numbers from his phones and if she calls or texts he should not respond to her messages. I advised him that in order to make a harassing phone calls case, the calls can only be one sided and he cannot carry on a conversation with her because then it becomes a mutual conversation and not harassing phone calls.

Bitetto also told me he went to the bank to re-order some business checks. When he looked in the checkbook to verify the last check number he had, he discovered 5 checks were missing, Seacoast Bank check #'s 20083-20088. Bitetto believes Pitonack stole the checks along with their corresponding check register receipt and stated the checkbook is kept locked in a cabinet and only he and Pitonack are the only ones who had a key to the cabinet. Bitetto received this particular batch of checks around March 2011 and he just now noticed the checks were gone. There is no proof or evidence that Pitonack did or did not steal the checks. Bitetto was advised by Lauren at the Tiffany Avenue Seacoast Bank branch to close his existing account and to open a new business account to avoid any possible problems with the missing checks.

I also advised Bitetto if Pitonack shows up at his business or at his home to immediately contact 911 and request the police to respond, and if possible to issue her a Trespass Warning against his property. Bitetto requested information on obtaining a restraining order and I advised him to contact the Clerk of the Courts with the St. Lucie County Courthouse in Fort Pierce to receive additional information.

Nothing further to add at this time.
